About the Diploma in Law

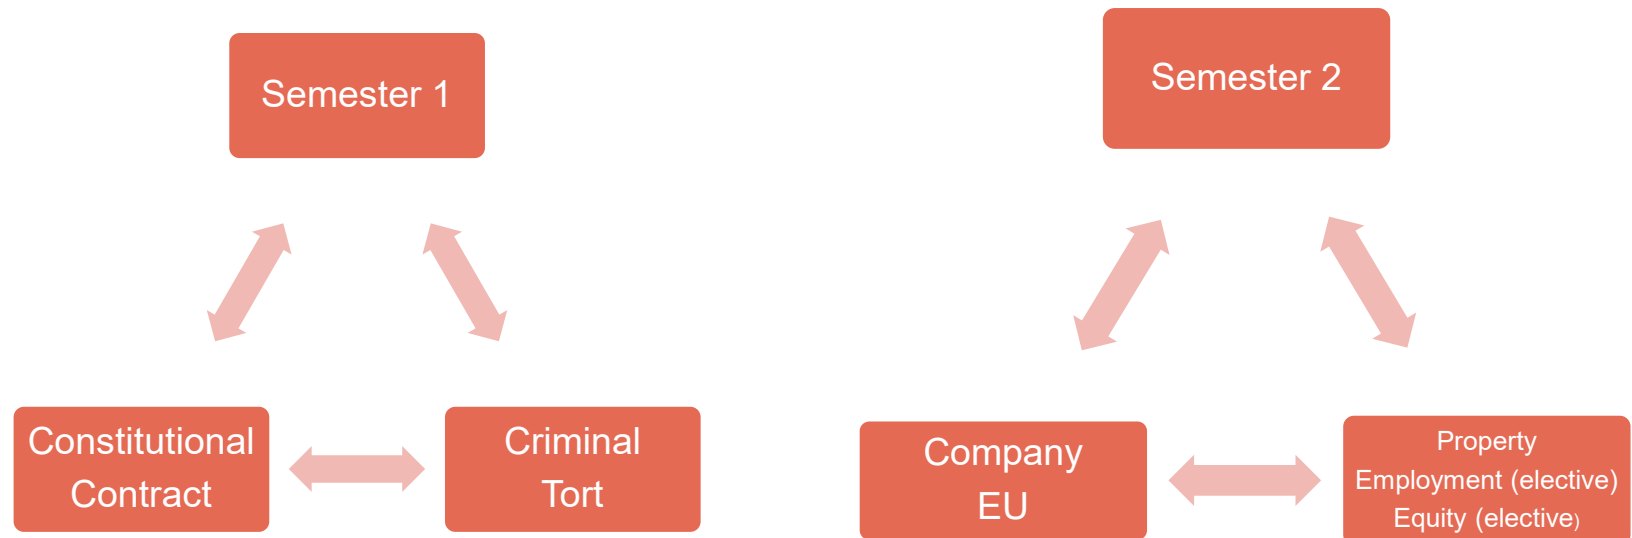

- The Diploma in Law from the Law Society of Ireland has been created for those seeking a greater knowledge of the law, professionals who would like to gain new skills and, in turn, add value to their current roles, and graduates keen to acquire new expertise and who are thinking of commencing the solicitor qualification.
- This course is unique in that it integrates the academic theory with the practice of law. Our module tutors are experienced practitioners and are well placed to provide instruction in the various substantive topics of law with the added benefit of being able to relate to the real life

Programme Structure /Study Options

- Students can choose between a one-year or two-year option of study to best suit their needs.
- Those students who select the two-year option generally elect to study two modules per semester.

Diploma in Law: Entry Requirements

- Entry Graduates

Holders of a non-legal degree from a recognised third level institution. Applications from overseas graduates will be examined on a case by case basis.

- Non-graduate applicants

Applications are also welcome from non-graduates who have demonstrable and relevant legal work experience.

All applicants will be interviewed – this may be by telephone , zoom or in person

Lectures/workshops

- Lectures are held weekly on a Wednesday evening from 6pm to 8.30pm with a monthly block release weekend on a Friday and Saturday.
- The Saturday workshops -offer an opportunity to participants to work in smaller groups, facilitated by experienced practitioners working through relevant problem-based case studies.
- Each module will also comprise a skills session tailored to the particular topic and there will be additional specific workshops on legal writing and examination techniques.

Assessment

- All modules are assessed through a mix of continuous assessment (written assignments and online tasks)
- Examinations are held at the end of each semester.
 - Semester 1 examinations take place in January
 - Semester 2 examinations are held in June
